Bea Benoit and Midshipman Russell Lead

Miss Beatrice Marie Benoit with her escort Midshipman Carl B. Russell, First Class, United States Naval Academy, led the figure of the Red, White and Blue Formal. Miss Benoit is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Benoit of Brighton Road, Washington, D. C. She is a freshman at Mary Washington College and a major in history, with a minor in dramatics. Miss Benoit was editor of her high-school paper at McKinley High School in Washington, where she gained honor awards for dramatics and journalism. At Mary Washington she is a member of the Mary Washington Players, the Terrapin Club and the Bullet staff.

Midshipman Carl B. Russell, First Class, United States Naval Academy, is the son of Mr. Roy Russell and Mrs. Eva Fraze, Dayton, Ohio. Midshipman Russell, like many other young officers, will be in the graduating class June, 1942, instead of 1943, due to the accelerated program war-time measure by the President of the United States.

Bowers Added To Psychology Staff

Since the departure of Dr. Jau John Ritter to the United States Army, there has been a new member added to the faculty of Mary Washington College to take Dr. Ritter's psychology classes for the duration.

Dr. Roy B. Bowers comes to us from the University of Cincinnati where he taught at the Teachers College there. Previous to his appointment at Mary Washington, Dr. Bowers was Superintendent of the Bristol School at Bristol, Va. where he has been affiliated for nineteen years.

Dr. Bowers received his first two degrees at Carson Newman College and he also studied in Chicago and for two years at the University of Cincinnati. Here on the hill Dr. Bowers will teach psychology and perhaps education.

"On To Victory" Homecoming Theme

Homecoming comes but once a year, and this year the alumnae are scheduled to return the week-end of the 27 of February. This homecoming week-end is made possible through the joint loyal efforts of the Athletic Association and the Alumnae Association but in order for it to be successful, it needs the sincere cooperation and support of every member of Mary Washington College.

Theme Is Defense

Homecoming is the one big week-end when the alumnae return to their alma mater to review some of the happy college day experiences. This year the motto is "All Out For Defense and On To Victory".

Crowded into two days will be a huge and varied program. Friday, a group of the alumnae have been selected to appear in a Talent Night Program to be given in George Washington Hall at 7:00 P. M. in place of the regular Convocation number Wednesday. Those included in the program will be Miss June Stoll, '41, singing two numbers, Miss Alice Dew, of Fredericksburg, who will read two selections, Mrs. Nellie Mae Stewart Pettit, of Fairfax, who will sing and Miss Edith Donan, of Richmond, who will dance. Miss Donan was the jester in last year's May Day and will present that as one of her numbers. Miss Dew is the President of the Junior Women's Club of Fredericksburg and is also a member of the board of Directors of the U. S. O. She teaches school

Dept. Of Health and Ph. Ed. Plan For Emergency

The Federal Government is sending out a plea that students who are eligible enter the Government Training Schools for Physiotherapy. In the past graduates of Mary Washington Physical Education Dept. were not eligible to enter the government schools without additional study. The department now offers additional courses so that graduates of this year are automatically qualified to pursue this specialized course.

To date approximately 300 students at Mary Washington College have taken the First Course this year. Plans are now under way to offer the Advanced First Aid Course, and the Instructors Course. Red Cross Volunteer First Aid Detachment Groups are being organized on the campus. The purpose of this organization is to be prepared to serve the immediate community in the event of an emergency. Each detachment shall consist of not less than 15 or more than 50 persons. Enrollment is to be for a 12 month period. Each detachment shall be so divided that five persons, including a leader will compose a squad. Each squad meets for practice and actual service in times of emergency.

The Athletic Association is continuing to sponsor the recreational program. During the Winter quarter intramurals and interclass tournaments in basketball, two Modern Dance Clubs, Swimming, and Hiking Clubs are being sponsored by this group. In addition special parties are planned for Saturday nights when no other form of recreation is being sponsored by the college.

The college is planning to have organized groups devoted to Bandage making, Posture Emphasis, Dietetic Emphasis, and Home Nursing. The theme of the year is physical fitness, each Mary Washington girl 100 per cent physically fit.

Sigma Tau Chi Sponsors Follow-Up Program

Sigma Tau Chi, the commercial organization of Mary Washington College is busy at many projects this term. Most important at the present is the sponsoring of a "follow-up" program of all commercial majors who have not returned to Mary Washington. This is being carried on for all four classes: freshman, sophomore, juniors and seniors.

The general procedure is to send a questionnaire to the former student, most of whom now hold positions in the business world. The questions ask the students what subjects they took in school are now proving most helpful in their work; they inquire about

Included on the program was "Harmonica Player," an original composition from the Dance Club of 1940. This dance, based upon music by David Guelio, is a gay, rollicking dance, based upon the square dance of America.

True Patriotism Displayed In Stamp Sales

During the first month that defense stamps have been sold in the booth outside the college shoppe, the sale has amounted to approximately $750. The weekly average has been $187. On a single day $79.85 worth of stamps was sold, and the smallest amount has been $2.95.

The rush hour at the Victory Booth seems to be between eleven-thirty and twelve-thirty each day.

Many and varied are the reasons the students present as they purchase their bit in the United States. On being approached at the booth, Mary Elizabeth Lewis said: "Herbert and I are buying bonds together and in 1952 we're to build our home."

Mary Jane Studds: "For National Defense."

Nancy Morse: "Because I've got fifty pennies, and I want to put them to good use."

Clara Virginia Davis: "To fill up my book so that I can get a bond."

Marian Powelson: "For every dollar I break I buy a twenty-five cent defense stamp."

Ada Shackelford: "To help our country as much as I can."

Diddie Laushey: "I'm spending my change for defense stamps instead of for cokes and candy."

Dr. Castle: "To put in my daughter's book of stamps."

The class of '44 has done it again. Their benefit this year promises to be a whirlwind of originality and fun. It's to be held on Friday night, the 20th of February in Monroe gym at 7:45.

This is the first time that a class has given the proceeds from their annual benefit to something other than their own use. This year the Sophomore class decided to turn the entire net proceeds over to defense. In this way they not only provide amusement and recreation for the rest of the student body, but they do their little bit to help their country win this war.

The benefit is going to be a versatile affair with just about every kind of entertainment possible. There will be a defense dance with all the girls wearing sweaters and skirts. During the evening there will be a fashion show with clothes from stores in downtown Fredericksburg featured. The models for the fashion show are all girls from the sophomore class and include: Ruth Cowan, Marionette Klinesmith, Kitty Murphy, Sylvia Herbst, Mary Louise Porter, Betty Williamson, Sara Davis, Mary MacCrane, Marjorie Martele and Annette Warren. They will model spring fashions in evening wear, sports clothes, afternoon frocks and spring suits and coats.

The talk of the campus has been the sweater girl contest which will take place after the

Graves Urges Summer School

Mr. Graves, head of the elementary department of education at Mary Washington College, has announced his program for the winter quarter is functioning very successfully. According to the usual system, senior elementary education majors were selected in January to serve their apprenticeship in nearby elementary schools. All of these lie within a radius of sixty-five miles of Fredericksburg. During this quarter eight girls are doing this apprenticeship work. They are placed only in schools which have adapted the new teaching curriculum.

When asked about his field work in connection with present world situations, Mr. Graves stated that the program would remain unchanged except for the stress being put on attendance of summer school. He said that it is most urgent that prospective teachers attend the summer session and finish early. It is their duty in helping to relieve the alarming shortage of teachers throughout the country.

Oh! Spring!

Ah, Spring! And that strange pounding in the breast! It does things to one. One goes around with a glassy stare. One reels with unwarranted sleepiness and boredom. It has been said for eons that this is Spring fever. Let us assure you, it isn't. It's a lack of sleep and boredom!

That this happens to be the middle of February and Spring is not officially due for practically centuries yet, has nothing to do with it. We are just getting you in the mood and getting you prepared.

Let us give you the low-down on how to deal with Spring. First, ignore all admonitions to stir your stumps and get down to business. We have been wallowing around with Winter so long it is about time we sort of got reconciled to the other whimsies of nature. Spring is one of the most beautiful seasons of the year—along with Winter, Summer, and Fall. There is something about mud, Spring colds, and driving rain that endear us all to this glorious time of year. Get out in the elements and breathe the cool clean air. Wander down all the lanes and by-ways looking for shy violets. (If you find any, report all such findings to the OCD, they need 'em). Gambol with the squirrels, frolic with the cats, give your all to get Spring in your blood.

Second, this is the time when Eastern War time will really come into its advantages. After dinner there will be a short period before study hour when there will be plenty of light and soft balmy winds. All this is conducive of remaining outside on the lawns to whistle at all the town boys who wander up on the hill to see how we are getting along without them. (They think they're wonderful—so there's no need to destroy their trust).

That is just about all for now, but if you need any more aid call on us. Right now we're going out to practice what we preach and see how it feels.

NOTES FROM A PROF

Dr. Edwards

It was my good fortune to attend a meeting of the Virginia State Nutrition Committee in Lynchburg, Virginia on January 31, of this year. For the first time I met many of the members of this excellent committee of which Dr. Mildred Tate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute is chairman.

This Nutrition Committee has gained the support and cooperation of various state agencies including the Department of Education, the Home Demonstration Service, the State Planning Board, the N. Y. A., the W. P. A., and the Home Economics Department and Rural Sociology Division of the Experiment Station of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. All of these agencies have aided in a study for the Committee of Nutrition of school children in selected counties in Virginia.

A preliminary report of this Nutrition study was presented at the Lynchburg meeting. The results of the study suggests why so much is being said about the importance of nutrition at this time when our country needs the help of sturdy citizens in building a strong defense against our aggressors.

Of the approximately 3,000 school children whose diets were studied only two thirds were getting the amount of the protective foods recommended by reliable nutrition standards. The diet of children in rural areas was slightly poorer than those of urban children.

The urban white children were 5 per cent better nourished than rural white children. While urban negro children were 10 per cent better nourished than rural negro children.

In some counties, as on the Eastern Shore, only slightly more than half of the children were getting an adequate diet—while in Danville, 75 per cent of the white

A letter has been sent to Mrs. Snyder, director of publicity, and one of the sponsors of the Bullet, thanking her for the work which Mary Washington College did in the March of Dimes Program and the drive against infantile paralysis. The letter, signed by Mr. Benjamin Pitts, Chairman for Fredericksburg, Virginia, Infantile Paralysis Campaign, reads as follows:

Mrs. Martha W. Snyder
Mary Washington College
Fredericksburg, Virginia

My dear Mrs. Snyder:

The brilliant campaign against Infantile Paralysis has shown once more the splendid spirit of citizenship which we enjoy in Fredericksburg. Your willing cooperation in this campaign gave promise from the outset of the high goal we have attained. I am sure that you felt, as I did, that there is a deeper concept in this understanding than the mere raising of money, even for the beautiful cause of controlling Infantile Paralysis, and that is the strengthening and extension of the capacity for united service by a united people, who today face the bitter choice of desperate war or hopeless loss of all that they hold dear.

Infantile Paralysis has not yet been conquered, nor has America established peace throughout the world, but in this as an every worthy fight, we can remember, and be strengthened by the thought, that the end of war is victory.

I am indeed grateful to you, the faculty and students of the Mary Washington College for your splendid cooperation in connection with this campaign.

Sincerely yours,
Benj. T. Pitts,
Chairman for Fredericksburg,
Va. Infantile Paralysis Campaign.

Dear Editor:

This week, I think, more than any other week, some of us have been conscious of the hardship that is worked upon both students and faculty members by having professors go out on lecture tours for the college. I'm not objecting to the least to this policy, but on the contrary am completely in favor of this method of bringing our school before the eyes of high school graduates.

However, I've recently been thinking about some modification in this lecture tour position. It might sound silly, but it is a thought. My idea is this: After having spent four years as a student at Mary Washington College, I think a Senior is really as conscious of the advantages to be had in a Mary Washington Education as anyone else. With this in mind, why couldn't we have selected students accompany faculty and officials on these tours? I'm not trying, of course, to belittle the ability and capability of our faculty. It just seems that students could talk to girls in small groups and tell them about more personal matters connected with the school, matters that perhaps some of the staff may not be in a position to discuss.

I don't know exactly how these lectures are conducted in the various high schools, but I believe that pictures, motion pictures that have been actually

Knitting Corps News

I have heard that some of those who would like to knit and also some of those who have already volunteered, are not knitting because the Chapter here in town is so "prissy" about the work. This charge against the Chapter is not true. There is a difference between wanting to do something for Defense and doing it creditably, and in wanting to "put in time" and get credit for it. This is true with anything—knitting is not.

One pair of socks has been returned to be redone—and Jean Randall can tell us why they were returned. She is redoing them. Suffice it to say, that when a job has been so poorly done that much darning is necessary to close up the holes. That "knitter" just went through the motions with no thought or care of whether or not the finished product would be usable.

One sweater was returned to be redone. It was for an eight year old child. The body of the sweater would have fitted a fourteen year old, except that it was too short. Such a sweater would not be usable for any size.

The Chapter is not unduly "prissy" about the work. They merely are asking for effort to be spent in such a manner that the finished product is usable. And certainly, if we are really in earnest about wanting to help in the emergency, we should be willing to do a good job of whatever we are doing.

At present, there is wool on hand for five more pairs of socks and twenty-one sweaters. Needles for both have come in in the stores in town. A reasonable period of time is allowed for any article to be finished before it is asked for by the Chapter. More wool is available as soon as we are in a position to use it.

Some two hundred students volunteered for knitting. Let's Go! Come to Willard on Monday, Thursday or Saturday afternoons from 4 to 6.

Complete work has been turned in as follows: Socks: Grace Ball, Henrietta Beck, Dorothy Drake, Nell Early, Ann Foster, Alice Fuller, Shirley Hunter, Betty Onley, Nathalie Kearns, Jean Randall, Ellen Van Oz, and Jean Williamson; Children's Sweaters: Audrey Armstrong, Marjorie Baldwin, Betty Leedom, Alice Straughan, Betty Taylor and Anna Belle Watts; Navy Hospital Sweaters: Joan Feaster, Lorraine Green, Helen Starnell, Betty Taylor and Betty Leedom.

Other work being done and almost finished: Socks: Janet Fitzsimmons, Yvonne Hall, Pat Jones, Marguerite Klenck, Ellen Plummer, Kathryn Price, Alfreda Steele, and Nancy Tucker; Navy Hospital Sweaters: Winifred Granger, Mary Frances Hiehle, Sally Hughes, Sallie Jacob, Ann Kavanaugh, Margaret Lambarber, Mildred MacPherson, Betty Whittaker Hunter; Children's Sweaters: Betty Austin, Tillie Bernstein, Betty Dolan, Gloria Epstein, Kernel Eskridge, Margaret Falls, Louise Jacques, Pat Jones, Edith Leitch, Marion Lundberg, Lillie Macheras, Jane Manning, Myra Mitchell, Catherine Murphy, Rose Ortiz-Gonzales, Shirley Patrick, Rose Ronci, Ruth Rummelsburg, Mary Beth Smith, Jean Talley, Mildred Tally, and Rita Unruh.

Patriotic Dances

The Victory Tea Dance and the Red, White, and Blue Formal were truly colorful, patriotic affairs. Music for the Tea Dance held in Monroe Gym was provided by Jesse Fyne and his orchestra. The gym was decorated with red, white, and blue streamers, and the high percentage of men in Uncle Sam's uniforms made the dance truly patriotic. Jesse Fyne again furnished music for the prom in the Hall of Mirrors. Many girls in gown of red, white, or blue emphasized the theme of the Formal. About 108 girls with their guests attended the prom, and all vouch for the fun they had.

In contrast to the preceding form dance was "Jazz-Ma Taz," an original composition presented last year for the first time. It is a modern composition, showing the influence of jazz in pattern and step. The music was composed by Rose Ronci.

Rosemary Fairbanks did an excellent interpretation of a gruesome "Bali Ritual."

Student Personality

We walked into her room, and there she was—enthusiastic as usual. Eyes sparkling, she exclaimed "I'm so excited! Bill Dudley has consented to come down and judge the sweater girl contest!"

You guessed it! We mean Dot Woodson, that dark eyed darling who hails from Clifton Forge, Va. What we like is the way she sparkles. We'd like some of that energy to use on ourselves!

Dot is a sophomore majoring in English; also takes typing and shorthand extra. (More power to you, Dot! We wish we were as ambitious.) Besides being sophomore class president and kept plenty busy with class affairs, Dot also finds time for Cotillion Club, Alpha Phi Sigma, Leader's Club, the B. S. U., and work in the dining hall. Not bad, say we!

Dot likes dancing, swimming, picnics, group singing, and skating. Most like an actual hobby, however, is her interest in people.

She says: "I like all types of people—yet not to study or analyze. I find them more interesting than any other material things I can think of." She likes to strike up acquaintances with all the people with whom she is brought in contact.

It seems people also like Dot!

Modern Dance Group To Go To Farmville

This coming Saturday, Feb. 21, a group of Modern Dancers will represent Mary Washington College at the Dance Symposium of Virginia Colleges held at Farmville State Teachers College.

Colleges that will be represented are Chapel Hill College, North Carolina, the only out-of-state college, Sweet Briar, Madison, Farmville, and Mary Washington.

The students from Mary Washington College who will go to Farmville are Lillas Scott, Myran Russell, Ann Harris, Peggy Moran, Margaret Throp, and Frances Wills. They are to participate in technique classes in the morning. In the afternoon, the representatives are divided into three groups for original compositions. The Mary Washington girls will present a technique study of their own, "Jazz Ma Taz" and a "Study in Moods."

The group will spend the night at the Farmville State Teachers College and return here Sunday.

in the LaFayette Elementary School. Miss Dew was former president of the Alumnae Association of the Fredericksburg Chapter and is now a director of the International Alumnae Association.

The program will open with the entire student body singing "America," Edna Reed at the organ. A special section will be set aside for the visiting alumnae.

All alumnae who did not register Friday night will register Saturday in Westmoreland Hall from 8:30 A. M. — 12:30 P. M. and from 2:00 — 4:00 P. M. If any student has invited an alumna to visit her, please report the name of the guest and your room number to Miss Lavinia Elliott, who is in charge of registration.

Since alumnae like to see the new sights on campus and visit old classes, sight-seeing trips are being arranged at 9:30 A. M., 10:30 A. M., and 11:30 A. M. All interested in going on these trips will please meet in front of Monroe Hall at 12:00 of the given hours.

Alumnae To Attend Victory Luncheon

Saturday at 12:45 P. M., alumnae, faculty, and Athletic Association members who plan to attend the Victory Luncheon to be held in the downstairs unit of Seacobeck Hall will meet in the front of Monroe. A nominal charge of 35¢ will be made for this luncheon.

Mrs. Dodd has been invited to be the guest speaker for this occasion. The luncheon will formally open with the allegiance to the flag and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner." It is hoped that all who plan to attend will notify Miss Virginia Hawley in Virginia 301 at their earliest convenience.

Immediately following the luncheon, a short but important business meeting of the Alumnae Association will be held in the Seacobeck Dome Room. At this time the new officers for the coming year will be elected. Reports of the present treasurer and the local chapter will be given.

Bridge will be played in Westmoreland Hall between 2:00-3:00 P. M. At 3:00 P. M. the officers of the International Association will be honored at a tea in the Dome Room of Seacobeck Hall.

Juniors Tie

Freshmen 17-17

In the most exciting Class Basketball Game of the season, and the one with the smallest audience, the Juniors tied the Freshmen 17-17, Tuesday night in the gym.

Teams Battle Neck and Neck

Bringing the audience or most of them down to the court as officials delayed the game considerably but when it got started, it was a very fast game. The new center throw in speeds the game up tremendously. The Freshmen were in the center first and with three successful passes had scored the first goal of the game. Following that there was the play of the ball back and forth with much scoring. First quarter ended with the score 4-3 in favor of the Freshmen.

Harrison, of the Freshmen, usually to be counted on was off on her shots tonight, although high scorer with 12 points. Then too Beachamp for the Juniors disturbed all the Freshmen forwards with her fast, clean interceptions and her nice guarding near the basket. Second quarter ended with a close score 7-6, still in favor of the Freshmen.

Browning Ties Score For Freshmen

From then on the battle was neck and neck. Third quarter the score was 11-11. The last quarter was played like a whirlwind, first one team scoring and then the other. A minute before the game ended, the Juniors lead 17-15, only to have Browning come in for the Freshmen and tie the score with a field goal a few seconds before the game ended. Bonny, of the Juniors, had recently put the Junior Team ahead. Her play was excellent.

interests. Dr. Bowers is indeed an outdoor man, being particularly fond of fishing and hiking. Besides these two sports, Dr. Bowers is especially fond of mushrooms and everything connected with them.

Of Fredericksburg and the college Dr. Bowers has only praise and we wish him all the success possible while he is here with us.

fashion show. All the girls interested may enter this contest to be judged by none other than Bill Dudley, All-American football hero! This promises to be the hit of the evening.

In the further interests of defense there will be a huge chocolate cake raffled off to the winner of the lucky ticket. Whoever wins will certainly be popular!

All this fun and entertainment can be had for the small price of twenty cents including tax and raffle. They are on sale in all the dormitories and at the door on Friday night. They will undoubtedly go very quickly so get yours early and be sure.

The members of all the committees are to be congratulated on all their fine work and cooperation.

children were having a diet considered adequate.

The report stated that "The major food classes in each rural and urban racial group ranks as follows in order of decreasing percentage adequacy: (1) meat, (2) fruit, (3) milk and milk products, (4) vegetables, and (5) whole-grain cereals."

It was evident from the study that the diets of these children might have been considerably improved by education if parents had made a better selection of available foods. Hence the challenge for a program in nutrition education which will reach all families in the state and enable Virginia to contribute its full share in advancing the health standards of the country.

As fast as possible plans will be put into action to carry more information about how to choose satisfactory foods and how to care for and prepare them so as to preserve all their valuable nutritive properties.

All of us have opportunities to carry the message of good nutrition by word and example to many other individuals. Lets each do our share, first by observing good nutrition rules in our own food habits and second, by aiding as many as we can to learn more about the foods needed in an adequate diet.

Beauty Contest Winner

The winner of the Bullet Male Beauty Contest is John Mosley, who is an actor. This picture was presented by Gillette Mingea. Honorable mention in the contest is awarded to Carl Russell, Midshipman, who was submitted by Bea Benoit and Thomas Murphy, twin brother of Kitty Murphy.

All girls who submitted pictures may get them from Westmoreland 210.

P. S. The picture of the aviator in last week's Bullet was submitted by Betty Strohecker.

Seniors Come Back To Defeat Sophomores Arts Still Important

Thursday night, Feb. 12, the Senior Basketball Team made a comeback performance to defeat the Sophomores 19-13, after having been turned back

Tuesday night by the Freshmen. It was the Sophomores first defeat in the Class Basketball Tournament as they had won over the Juniors in a game last week.

Using the new center throw in for the first time on the hill, it proved quite a speed up to the old way. This system is giving the ball to the team scored upon instead of the old way of taking turns at receiving the ball in center after a goal is made.

The game was a scrappy one with many tie balls. Fouls were frequent but not serious. Had the Seniors made many more fouls, the Sophomores may have won on foul shots as Kitty Poage was sinking them five times out of eight.

McPherson was the outstanding player of the night, and also high scorer, totaling a count of eight points. However the combination of Watts, Paulette, and Steck for the Seniors, clicked nicely with effective passing and scored ten of the Seniors' 19 points.
